

Supplementary materials

Geospatial Health #616 - Detection of spatial aggregation of cases of cancer from data on patients and health centres contained in the Minimum Basic Data Set

Figure S1. Location of the town of Alcala de Henares in Spain. In the map of Spain, the grey area represents the region of Madrid Community where Alcala de Henares town is located. In the black map (town of Alcala de Henares) the white lines correspond to the spatial boundaries of census sections and gray line corresponds to the spatial polygon defined in the analysis which includes the subjects that has been selected for the analysis.

